Resources for YOU

A Tagnawa Tutor (Waipahu High School Early College Tutor) is assigned to all Early College students - including 3.0 partner students.

Students can contact their Tutor for assistance regarding Early College courses. Although they may not be content-experts, They can provide resources to Early College Students.

These Tutors will be sending weekly emails out to all Early College students. These weekly “Temperature Check” emails are just to check in on students and how they are doing in their Early College classes.

Students are asked to reply with a number rating (1-4) with 1 being the lowest rating and 4 being the highest. This number will let your Tutor know how you are feeling in the course and if you need assistance. Please also feel free to reach out to the tutor for assistance.

AI Guidance for Students

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE (AI) GUIDANCE for Student Use

Artificial intelligence (AI) is rapidly changing how we learn and create. AI tools can be powerful resources for students, offering new ways to explore ideas, conduct research, and express creativity. Students may use digital programs, including AI tools, as learning resources, if they have a signed Technology Responsible Use Form (TRUF) and the program has been approved by the school. These guidelines are designed to help you use AI responsibly and ethically in your education.

Responsible AI Use

Evaluating AI Output

Never rely solely on AI-generated content. Always review and critically assess outputs from AI tools before submission or dissemination to ensure accuracy and originality. Check facts, look for logical errors, and consider whether the tone and style are appropriate for the task. These are often known as AI hallucinations.

AI and Responsibilities

Use AI tools safely and responsibly. Make sure you understand and follow school and department rules (like those in Chapter 19). This means you should never use AI for illegal activities, to create inappropriate content, or to harm others. Misuse of AI could result in disciplinary action.

Bias & Misinformation

Be aware that AI-generated content may possess biases or inaccuracies because of the data it was trained on. Always verify results from AI tools using trusted sources, such as your teacher, librarian, reputable organizations, or primary sources, before using the content in academic work.

Transparency

Any use of AI to aid assignments, projects, or research must be declared. Transparency is important for ethical reasons, to ensure you get proper credit for your own work, and to allow teachers to accurately assess your learning.

The recommendations outlined in this document will be updated based on ongoing research and development in the field of artificial intelligence.

Ethical Use of AI

Assessments

AI tools may be used as a tutor or studying assistant to prepare for assessments, such as exams or quizzes by generating practice questions or summarizing complex topics. It should not be used in the context of completing exams or quizzes unless explicitly stated. It's important to develop your own understanding and not rely on AI to do the work for you.

Assignments

Always check with your teacher for guidance on the acceptable use of AI on assignments, including any limitations. Teachers may have varying expectations for different assignments. If you are unsure, it's always best to ask.

Citing AI Content

It is important to do your own work and avoid submitting AI-generated content as your own. Any AI-generated content used in assignments must be appropriately cited; its use must be disclosed and explained. Refer to the HDOE AI Website for citation guidelines for proper formatting.

MLA Style - Generative AI | APA Style - ChatGPT | Chicago Style - Generative AI

Plagiarism

Using AI to generate answers or complete assignments without proper citation is plagiarism. Remember the principles of responsible AI use and avoid any actions that violate academic integrity. To avoid plagiarism, be transparent about your use of AI and cite any AI-generated content appropriately.

Privacy and AI

Data Collection

Parents, guardians, and students will be informed of any data collection initiatives involving AI, and consent will be sought when applicable.

Personal Information

Protect your privacy. Avoid sharing sensitive personal information like your full name, address, phone number, or school details with AI tools. If you have any questions, ask a teacher or parent. Protecting your information helps prevent identity theft and maintains your privacy.

Third-Party AI Tools

Only use authorized AI tools approved by the school. A list of approved services is available on the school website or by request. The school approves certain AI tools to ensure they are safe, protect your privacy, and are appropriate for your age.

The recommendations outlined in this document will be updated based on ongoing research and development in the field of artificial intelligence.
